

COT COT

From:
To:
Cc:
Subject: COT matters
Date: Wednesday, 16 June, 1993 8:59AM
Priority: High

Good news re channel nine news. Haven't checked all outlets but as it didn't run on the main bulletin last night, we can be pretty certain that the story died the death. I wish I could figure which phase it was that convinced [redacted] not to proceed. Might have been one of [redacted] pearls.....

Neil Mitchell had another bite this morning. Said to keep those faxes rolling into Schorer.

What happened to the draft letter to the Portland newspaper? In these matters affecting rural areas, it's important to support our staff. Please advise re outcome of letter.

regards,

A04646

On 16 June 1993 TELSTRA's document A04646 appeared. "Good news re channel nine news. Haven't checked out all outlets but as it didn't run on the main bulletin last night, we can be pretty certain that the story died the death. I wish I could figure which phrase it was that convinced [redacted] not to proceed. Might have been one of [redacted] pearls ...

Neil Mitchell had another bite this morning. Said to keep those faxes rolling into Schorer.

What happened to the draft letter to the Portland newspaper? In these matters affecting rural areas, it's important to support our staff. Please advise re outcome of letter." [redacted] was the head reporter for channel nine news, [redacted] was TELSTRA's Corporate Secretary, and Schorer was Graham Schorer - one of the Casualties of Telstra group. What exactly were the pearls that were cast? Were they pearls of wisdom, financial pearls, or another type of pearl?

93